

A MAP of the NORTH POLE
 With all the Territories that lye near it, known to us &c. According to the latest Discoveries, and most Exact Observations agreeable to Modern History. By H. Moll Geographer.

Several attempts have been made by Mariners to find out a passage past Cape de China, but without success; being forced back by the contrary of winds, and the shallow nature of the straits; this means a course is not the Span of Russia, the Cape of England, nor the Cape of the North Pole, but the Cape of the North Pole, which is the City and City of the Discoverers.

Discoveries have likewise been made to find out a passage over the North Cape of America, the first undertaker of these voyages was Mr. Henry Sturges, who was afterwards followed by Mr. John Davis, each of whom made some new Discoveries, but did not meet with the success they proposed.
